

The Dashboard

This is the WordPress dashboard. This is the interface and brain of the website. Notice the black tool bar at the top and the side bar on the left. Editing of the website will be done through the links on the right side bar. By clicking on the name of the website at the top tool bar you can view your website.

There are several options on the left side bar:

Home: A customizable dashboard page / overview

Updates: This will let you know when your WordPress site, plugins, or themes needs updating

Posts: This will show you all of the posts on your site and will take you to the post editor

Media: Your media library is where you can add and manage all of your media like files, pictures, or videos

Pages: This will show you all of the pages on your site and will take you to the page editor

Comments: An overview of all of the comments on your website

Appearance: A collection of the tools and features that make up the graphic/visual design of the site

Plugins: Pre-packaged add-ins that allow you to expand the capabilities of your site, without writing the code yourself

Settings: The nuts and bolts of the website
